Southwest Region – Quarterly Report
January to March 2016

Sarah Nohe, M.A., Interim Director
Rachael Kangas, M.A., Public Archaeology Coordinator

Highlight of the Quarter
The highlight of the quarter was our participation at Calusa Days at Everglades National Park. We took a larger role in helping to organize and market this event. We interacted with a hundred people during the event, sharing a new hands-on mapping exercise with many of the children.

Public Outreach
• Ms. Kangas gave eight public lectures to over 200 people at venues across our region on a variety of new topics. Another 200 people attended a lecture in Marco Island by Jeff Moates.
• Both Youth and Adult programs were offered, allowing all ages to discover prehistoric pottery through hands-on workshops.
• Ms. Kangas attended National Interpreters Associate Certified Interpretive Guide training.
• Ms. Kangas was interviewed for a radio podcast “Archaeology in 30.”

Assistance to Local Governments
• Ms. Kangas became familiar with local archaeology by physically visiting archaeology sites, cemeteries & museums as well as reviewing which sites were listed on the FMSF.

Assistance to DHR
• Attended DHR planning meeting on Florida’s Comprehensive Historic Preservation Plan.
• Completed 4 Florida Archaeology Month events/lectures. We were able to celebrate FAM in all five of our counties.
• Distributed 500 FAM posters across southwestern Florida.

Administrative Duties
• Attended bi-weekly SE/SW staff meetings
• Attended FPAN staff meetings in Orlando
• Attended SWFAS meetings
Young archaeology enthusiasts at Calusa Days at Everglades National Park loved the mapping activity.
